CONCLUSION

Albert Einstein, the great scientist believed that Education is not learning of facts, but the training of the mind to think. This is what we at Sardar Patel Vidyalaya are trying to do. The system of education is undergoing drastic changes now-a-days and we, as the management, teachers, parents, and students have to tune according to it. Changes do not happen without challenges and challenges cannot be faced without confidence. So collectively let us take a pledge to welcome the changes and make our children to face the future challenges with confidence and courage.

To conclude, I would like to thank the management, parents, students and my committed and dedicated colleagues for all these good things to happen. I firmly believe that nothing is possible without team work. I thank one and all for their unflinching support and guidance.

Thank You!

Principal
